

2018 PMEA WEBINAR SERIES

Please join us for the following offerings:

Tuesday, January 16 | 7:00 pm - Ethics and Music Educators, part 1

Tuesday, January 23 | 7:00 pm - Ethics and Music Educators, part 2

We will reflect and promote discussion on these TARGETS: 1) definitions, philosophy and practices of teacher ethics, morality, professional standards, responsibilities, and codes of conduct; 2) the professional nature of teachers' relationships with students, parents, and other professionals, and appropriate student-teacher boundaries; 3) the values set forth in the PDE Code of Professional Practice and Conduct; 4) sample ethical dilemmas in the music education profession, and the avoidance of "the slippery slope" of unacceptable appearances or actions.

Presenter: Paul Fox

Wednesday, February 28 | 7:00 pm – Fluidity in Motion: Ways to Get the String Player's Right Arm Moving

A student's ability to manipulate the bow arm is critical to performing with good tone, appropriate articulations, and stylistic speed. This session will discuss the problems of the locked-up right arm and present strategies to prevent it from locking in the first place or through remediation.

Presenter: Melinda Perttu

Tuesday, March 27 | 7:00 pm – Building Your Brand

In this interactive workshop, participants will learn the why, what, and how of building their own brands – their reputations. As students prepare for pre-service teaching opportunities and a job search or as in-service teachers look to build their professional reputation and the reputation of their music programs, they will learn what to consider and pitfalls to avoid for now as well as for the future.

Presenter: Michael Slechta

Tuesday, May 1 | 7:00 pm – Flipping the Music Classroom

Use google classroom, YouTube, and other tools to flip your classroom. Give your students quality instruction, even when you are not there.

Presenters: Rebecca and Joe Sensor
